Dear Casey DiBattista,

I would like to thank the staff at Motoman Canada who were involved in the recent Jigless Robot Cell purchase. This technique of part holding, orientation and manipulation for a welding process intrigued me from the moment that Motoman introduced the product to me 5 years ago. I have looked for the opportunity to implement the potential of this concept at Dana Canada from that time.

I found that from the initial risk evaluation throughout the project to delivery and runoff the people involved went the extra mile to make sure that Dana's interest came first. The learning experience from implementation of the ANSI robot spec and the new Ontario regulations regarding Pre-start Reviews was beneficial to both our organizations. Yaz, Aaron, Orlan, Brian and Ian all demonstrated their respective experience and technical ability in a professional, knowledgeable and courteous manner to the betterment of Dana Canada. They represented Motoman in a way that would make any manager proud. I wish to particularly thank you for the efforts of Aaron Jacobs who as project manager did a top notch job and I look forward to working with him again in the future.

Sincerely yours,
